

WANT TIME EXTENDED

Methodist Ministers Discuss Question as to Four-Year Term.

Increase of the time which a Methodist minister may serve in a single locality was the subject of some discussion by the local clergymen of that denomination at their weekly conference yesterday. Under the present law of that church, a preacher may serve only four years in one place, and at the end of that time, will-nilly, he must go elsewhere.

While some felt that perhaps four years was too short a period, the sentiment was practically unanimous that there ought to be some limit. Dr. C. E. Smith, of the First Methodist church, advocated the retention of the four-year limit, on the ground that it kept up the church work better than a permanent pastorate might; that it gave the minister a chance to go to good places, and that it kept a minister from being worn out in a single locality.

CASE REACHES COURT

Discharged Employee of D. A. R. Demands Her Salary.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The Richmond post-office in order that the daughters of the American Revolution to dismiss an employee of the organization, which has been the bone of much contention within the society, was taken into the District of Columbia courts today.

Miss Agnes Gerald, a clerk in Continental Hall, the national headquarters of the organization, who was dismissed by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the president-general, for alleged insubordination, today entered suit for $150, representing her salary for the months of March and April. Her services were terminated by Mrs. Scott at the end of February, but as she did not recognize the right of the president-general to dismiss her, she continued at her post until she was dismissed by a resolution passed by the board of management of the organization on April 16.

She alleges she has not been paid since her dismissal by the president-general, and the legality of Mrs. Scott's action in dismissing her services is the point at issue in the case, which has attracted considerable interest to the members of the society.

Officers Held Blockade Still.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Raleigh, N. C., April 25.—Deputy Revenue Collector K. W. Merritt and Deputy Marshal J. H. Smith held a blockade still out in New Light township, and destroyed the still, which was of sixty-five-gallon capacity, cut up 500 gallons of beer in fermenter and considerable malt. They also emptied into the stream close by about twelve bushels of corn meal. A negro was at work at the still when it came in sight, but he succeeded in getting away.

PLEAD GUILTY TO HELP SAVE HARRIS

Fay Tells Mr. Alsop Why He Was So Anxious to Make It Light for Pal.

HAD EYE ON PETERSBURG

First Decided to Crack Post-Office Safe There, but Wanted Bigger Stake.

If what he says is true—and Jno. A. Alsop, who helped convey the prisoner to the Atlanta prison, believes it—Eddie Fay is a true sportsman and somewhat of a hero. This is because he pleaded guilty to the robbery of the Richmond post-office in order that both he and Little Dick Harris might get a short term. Had Little Dick gone to trial by himself, he would in all probability have got the limit of twenty-four years. Fay was not in Richmond when the job was done, and might have gone scot free.

After all the tension and strain of the trial was over and the post-office robbers knew that they had no further hope for freedom, Mr. Alsop states, it was evident that Fay loved Little Dick like a father. He was solicitous of his comfort on the long trip to Atlanta as a woman and did everything possible to raise Harris's hope by telling jokes and stories.

Harris was absolutely crushed by the sentence delivered by Judge Waddill. He was confident that five years

Had Officer Tiller been built upon the plan used by the manufacturers of spiders he might have corralled eight crapshooters, if he had been built in the style of architecture used in formulating centipedes, he most assuredly would have got more, but being as he is only one arm of the law, with only two hands, he made a grand slam with three.

Academy—Benjamin Players.

Made Good Again.

For their second week's offering at the Academy the Benjamin Players, now established in popular favor in Richmond, turned their attention from comedy to rapid farce, presenting Leo Dietrichstein's three-act grouch-dispeller, called "Before and After."

Mr. Dietrichstein, who has added to the merriment of nations with his "Are You a Mason?" "All on Account of Eliza," "Is Matrimony a Failure?" and a score more mirth-provokers, well understands the art of the farceur.

Like everything else, from his comic cap, pen, "Before and After" presents a topsyturvy state of affairs, with every one misunderstanding every one.

The principal ingredients of the farce, according to the recipes of all the literary chefs who cook this kind of a dish, are the infidelities of a married pair, with the usual prevalent notion on the part of the husband and the retaliation from the wife. It may be possible to construct a farce along different lines, but up to this time it has never been tried. However, "Before and After" is funny, very funny, and the Benjamin Company, under the footlights in the benches that were written in the piece and perhaps a few more.

Complications here become chaos, which is only out to toutte by indelicacy.

MAY ESCAPE ASYLUM

John Armstrong Chaulner Uses Good Offices for Patient.

New York, April 25.—Through the aid rendered by John Armstrong Chaulner, of Albemarle county, Va., Robert W. Lewis, a promoter, formerly of the county, who had been confined in the asylum at Central Islip, L. I., where he was committed last year at the instance of his wife, Mrs. Lewis, has been released from the asylum.

Chaulner has never seen Lewis since he was released from the asylum, but he has been instructed a New York lawyer to bring habeas corpus proceedings for Lewis's release.

At a hearing to-day, Justice Crane decided that it was safe to release the promoter under $1,000 bond. Chaulner has been communicated with, and if he supplies the necessary funds Lewis will be free.

Chaulner himself was at one time an inmate of a New York asylum, but escaped and has since resided in Virginia. He is a member of the well-known Chaulner family.

WON'T BE IN PICTURE

Officers of Junior Pharmacy Class, Medical College, Excluded from Group.

At a meeting of the officers of the various classes of the Medical College of Virginia last night, it was decided by vote that the pictures of the new officers of the junior primary class shall be excluded from the group photograph which is to be taken in the lobby of the college. The vote was reached after charges and counter-charges, some of which concerned newspaper men and their friends. The new officers of the junior pharmacy class charge, it is understood, that the vote might have been different had the officers of the classes been notified that the meeting was to be held. It is alleged that all the "frat" officers were informed, and that some of the "non-frat" officers were not informed of the meeting to be called. It seems probable that the fight will be continued.

DEAN OF SWINDLERS CAUGHT

Charles Moran Placed Under Arrest in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., April 25.—Charles Moran, better known as "Chummy" Moran, alleged by Post-Office Inspector Stuart, of Chicago, and Inspector J. T. Cortelyou, of Philadelphia, to-day, in the last twenty years Moran's alleged illegal gains are said to aggregate close to $1,000,000. He never operated on a small scale. When Operatives Moore and Elston, of Chicago, found Moran he was occupying an expensive suite of three rooms in an aristocratic hotel. A valet attended him, and he had plenty of money for his master's extensive wardrobe.

Moran is said to be known on both sides of the Atlantic, having in his earlier days practiced the art of gambling on the big lines. Later he became known as a daring and successful wire tapper. He is said to have
